

Abbotsford Lawyer

Abbotsford Lawyer - Our tax law group's services span the full range of taxation areas: provincial sales tax and goods and services tax, corporate and personal income tax, and international tax. Our clients consist of corporations, individuals, estates, trusts, and not-for-profit organizations like for example charities. Our tax lawyers draw on various areas of our firm for quality suggestion in various tax law transactions.

Our firm can offer assistance for individual clients, like for example assistance in lessening taxes all through their lifetimes; assistance in maximizing their estates; help with utilizing deferral opportunities and prudent savings tax. lessening the tax burdens of beneficiaries is important to clients and we provide recommendation and assistance regarding trusts and estates.

We are able to assist our many business clients with mergers and acquisitions, corporate reorganizations, and public financings, both domestically and internationally. In tax planning, we advise our clients on the use of financial intermediaries and specialized entities. We help foreign and local lenders and borrowers to structure their transactions in the most tax effective method.

We have significant knowledge in commodity tax law. We focus on helping individuals and organizations on numerous matters of tax related to goods and services tax and retail sales. We work closely with clients involved in national and global trade in identifying tax-saving opportunities. We even help with compliance matters.

We have helped lots of clients through the tax review process. We can help guide you during the first phase to the resolution of disputes in a cost-effective and timely method.

The lawyers of our tax law group are committed to regular analysis of the constantly changing developments in the tax law field. Our up-to-date skill allows us to advise about problems arising from amendments to tax legislation, government policies and judicial interpretation.

We help organizations to incorporate as charitable and non-profit organizations, and offer all the related advice concerning governance concerns, insurance concerns, fiduciary responsibilities, strategic planning, and risk management.

Our litigators in tax law have many years of knowledge dealing with issues of tax disputes including goods and services tax, income tax, retail sales tax, as well as various other disputes under taxation statutes.