

Legal Aid Abbotsford

Legal Aid Abbotsford - To generate the least amount of risk, whilst maximizing profit is the main objective when dealing with a corporate transaction. The system of taxation is so complicated, with lots of various rules and goals which helps regulate both domestic and foreign businesses. Our practice provides sound advice regarding tax planning and aids in the resolution of tax controversies. We try to guarantee that all transactions run tax-efficiently and quickly.

From the start, we bring in our lawyers to assist our clients in issues concerning acquisitions, divestitures, and the negotiation and structuring of mergers. This ensures that each undertaking is tax efficient so that our clients may maximize their profit.

Our lawyers are experienced in transactions concerning power, resources, communications, transportation, technology, real estate, financial services, and manufacturing. In addition, we also advise private equity investors, pension funds, and sovereign wealth funds. We have also converted some income trusts and royalty funds to corporate form.

Our lawyers in our firm are well-versed in all aspects of tax law involving anti dumping, sales tax, as well as other commodity and trade taxes. Manufactured goods transactions or financial services which are being done across borders would often need some expertise in the field of commodity taxation. Our company has the knowledge and experience to help our clients accomplish their tax goals.

Among the major sectors of our practice is involved with acquiring advance income tax rulings. Normally, we are asked to advise about both provincial and federal tax legislation, and to offer our opinions about dealing with tax audits. As well, corporations call upon us to advise them regarding stock options and several equity compensation arrangements.