

Abbotsford Family Law

Abbotsford Family Law - A lot of emotional stress can be the result of a family breakup. Within this country, family law consists of many different pieces and parts of legislation. Our family law lawyer would navigate the complexities of family law for you, and help you to know the relevant legislation as it applies to your particular case.

We have a goal at our company to enable you to reach an amicable solutions to the high expenses associated with the court procedure. At times these negotiations however do not achieve the desired results. If it becomes needed, we would assist you through every stage of the court procedure so as to reach the best possible result.

We offer services connected to the preparation of marriage contracts and cohabitation agreements, divorce (contested or uncontested), negotiation and preparation of separation agreements, and resolution of matters pertaining to property division, custody, access, spousal and child support.