

Law Offices in Abbotsford

Law Offices in Abbotsford - Regulating activities within the telecommunication and broadcasting industries are the Entertainment, Media & Sports laws. We represent at our firm, our client's interests before commissions and tribunals, by using a multidisciplinary approach which is demanded by this complex field of law.

Included in our client base are various professional athletes, artists and entertainers. We provide services connected to contract negotiation, tax planning, dispute settlement and intellectual property protection.

We work directly along with experts in our Corporate/Commercial, Corporate Finance, Tax and Technology & Communications Groups to be able to carry out and structure financing arrangements. Our clients comprise producers of motion pictures, theatrical works and television programs. We likewise represent and advise groups that are in the process of expanding or acquiring cable systems and telecommunication networks.