

Legal Services Abbotsford

Legal Services Abbotsford - Our company represents several North American production companies along with a collection of animation houses, banks, actors, directors, writers, service providers, and federal/provincial funding agencies.

We advise our many client's within the television and film business on the topics regarding distribution and co-production partners, tax credits and government funding, negotiations with broadcasters, banking transactions, guild and union problems, plus any other financing or production concerns they might come across.

For the on-location productions, we provide services and advice concerning withholding tax and film tax credits, investment rules and regulatory requirements, in addition to potential issues involving unions and guilds within Canada and the United States.

The main focal point of our team of lawyers concentrates on film, television, and the new media industries. We work with and are accompanied by various groups consisting of our Intellectual Property, Labour & Employment, and Tax groups. A unique perspective is developed by our head lawyer, who relies upon his securities law and entertainment law skill to be able to offer our clients with excellent recommendation regarding corporate and project-based funding.
