

Copyright Lawyer Abbotsford

Copyright Lawyer Abbotsford - If there are not sufficient systems to lessen risks are not in place, the complex web of global regulations and laws governing competitive conduct in today's world, can leave companies facing various corporate compliance problems. The many consequences can include hefty fines for alleged price fixing, and jail time for those people whose businesses have violated antitrust laws. Litigation by private people, including class action lawsuits, can lead to settlements or damage awards amounting to millions of dollars. Our company gives business clients proactive suggestion and effective representation so as to assist them establish corporate compliance systems in order to maximize their ability to compete efficiently and lawfully. Our competition/antitrust lawyers provide professional advice in connection with complicated problems which can adversely effect a company's operations and ability to survive.

Our lawyers our knowledgeable and experienced in antitrust and competition law, advertising and marketing law. Our lawyer are frequently asked to write and speak concerning competition law topics for legal, business and academic audiences. We have knowledge in price fixing investigations, mergers, product pricing, packaging, advertising, labeling and distribution problems. Our litigators have acted for clients before the courts, the Competition Tribunal and the Canadian International Trade Tribunal. Our lawyers draw upon different members all over our office for expertise in intellectual property, trade remedies, franchising and commercial problems related with product distribution. We likewise assist in the defence of criminal and quasi-criminal allegations.